

Published April 1, 2015 | CRITICS' PICKS

TOP 5 NEW YORK ART SHOWS THIS WEEK

Aiko Hachisuka, Eleven Rivington

By Howard Halle

Courtesy Eleven Rivington. Aiko Hachisuka, French Pants, 2014

This L.A. artist is known for her soft sculptures, created by bunching and trussing piles of old clothing before silk-screening the results with vivid colors. Her current show features more of the same, presented as cylindrical or columnar forms meant to suggest sculptures perched atop pedestals.